Headline:
A drier and brighter day for most. Feeling cold.

Today:
Early cloud will soon begin to clear to leave a drier and brighter day, with some sunny spells for many. However, there are likely to be a few showers along the Norfolk coast. Turning increasingly cloudy again later. Feeling cold. Maximum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Tonight:
Rather cloudy with further outbreaks of showery rain, possibly turning a little wintry, especially inland. Less cold than recent nights. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Sunday:
Another cloudy day, with further showers feeding in off the North Sea, these will be frequent and heavy at times. Feeling rather cold. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Staying cold and showery throughout, with the showers turning wintry at times. A strong easterly wind developing. Feeling rather cold, especially in the wind. Risk of ice and frost overnight.
